Our Privacy Policy

Personal data is such information as may be used to determine identity. Under this falls such information as name, address, postal address, telephone number, etc. Any information which cannot be associated with the actual identity of the user does not fall under such policies. Adherence to current legal requirements regarding personal data is for us, of course, beyond question. In this regard, our privacy policy gives you an opportunity to understand how your information is gathered and protected, as well as how you might go about obtaining information pertaining to the personal data stored by us. If necessary, we ask users of our website for information about their first and last name, as well as a variety of other personal information, to the extent that the user makes use of our personalized and/or interactive services. In the case of inquiries received from users, we only utilize this information internally within our own business. Information is not forwarded to third parties. We will never share your information without having first obtained your expressed agreement to do so. We value the trust you place in us and take the utmost care in protecting your personal information.

Conditions of Use, Warrantee, Liability

Use of this website is at the users own risk. We accept no liability for uninterrupted availability, or for published articles, specials, amenities and services with regards to accuracy, completeness or functionality. The warrantee complies with all legal requirements. Any liability for damages, either directly or indirectly resulting from use of this website, is excluded. This website, together with those services with which it is associated, is operated with due diligence and attention to both reliability and availability. However, due to technical reasons, it is neither possible to guarantee uninterrupted access to said services, nor that the desired connection can always be made, nor that stored data will be preserved under all circumstances. Consequently, uninterrupted availability cannot be assured. IP connectivity to other Internet operators is dependent on availability. Any liability for problems caused by third-party sites is expressly excluded. Use of other sites is subject to the Terms of Service of the operator in question. Acts of God, strikes, reduction in scope of services provided by other site operators, as well as repair or maintenance work, may result in interruptions or reduced scope of service. Such failures do not constitute liability on our part.

Links

With regards to links to other online sites, we assume no liability with respect to content, functionality and availability of said websites. This also applies to all other direct or indirect references or links to external Internet sites. Links to this website are desired, in so far as they are clearly external links and displayed in a separate browser window. Use of our main window in a frame of the referring site is not allowed. Should a website to which we have placed a link contain illegal content, we ask that you notify us. We will then remove said link immediately.
